EHS Writing Center

The Edina Education Fund is excited to have supported the creation of a new Writing Center at Edina High School this past year. “The Writer’s Block” is a resource for students at the high school who are seeking help with their writing assignments. Beth Mohs and Whitney Gonzalez, the staff coordinators for the center, are available both before school and during lunch to assist students in the writing process as they compose everything from analytical essays to creative narratives.

The Writer’s Block will be entering its first full year in the fall of 2010, a year that will bring a few exciting changes. Not only will both Mrs. Mohs and Mrs. Gonzalez continue to serve as staff coordinators, but twenty student writing coaches will also be added to the Writer’s Block team. These students will attend training sessions in the summer to prepare them to assist their peers next year. The Writer’s Block will also be a great resource for any seniors looking for guidance in crafting their college application essays in the fall.

The Writer’s Block has been a great success so far, and we anticipate it becoming an even more integral part of student life at the high school in the coming year.
